SMS Internal Communications

OVERVIEW

Internal communications are vital to the day to day running of any company. A key component of teamwork and operational efficiency is the distribution of information. Emails may traditionally be used for this but SMS invites a more immediate response.

SMS

SMS provides an instantaneous communication channel with the added benefit that you know when the message has been delivered. Our service allows you to send out SMS messages to individuals or groups either from a web browser, or by connecting to the software in use in your business today.

UPGRADE WITH SMS+

SMS+ enhances regular SMS. Adding longer message length and allowing rich text content, you also gain the ability to brand your messages with your corporate logo. You can encrypt your messages and set them to expire after a certain time. Messages sent via SMS+ can be read only by the intended user, providing the ideal solution for your more sensitive business communications.
